FROM THE PRESIDENT – JACK HRANICKY

I have been busy at the Arkfeld site in Frederick County, Virginia. Last week, the crew came up with the following:

The crew named it after the creek; it is now known as the Opequon Lion.

Wm Jack Hranicky

(But Jack, what is it? We'll have that for you in the next exciting issue of THE DATUM POINT! Da, da, Daaaaaaaaa!)

NO OCTOBER MEETING!

FIELD TRIP TO WESTON!

The Chapter is planning a field trip to Weston Farmstead on Saturday, October 5th from 11 AM to 1 PM. The property goes back to a Robert oKingö Carter land grant. The house itself is early 19th Century, with an unusually complete set of outbuildings, including one of the very few slave quarters that you can see in this part of the country. The website for more information is: <http://www.historicweston.org/>.

Arrive by 11 AM and tour the property with docents from the Warrenton Antiquarian Society. There is no admission fee, although donations would be gratefully received. If you want to bring a picnic lunch, feel free but there are several good restaurants in Warrenton.

The ladies of the Warrenton Antiquarian Society will be opening the property just for the Chapter. To be sure that we will have enough people to make it worth their while, please tell John Kelsey now if you're planning to make the visit and the number of people in your party. His email is jkelsey@cox.net.

OLD COLCHESTER

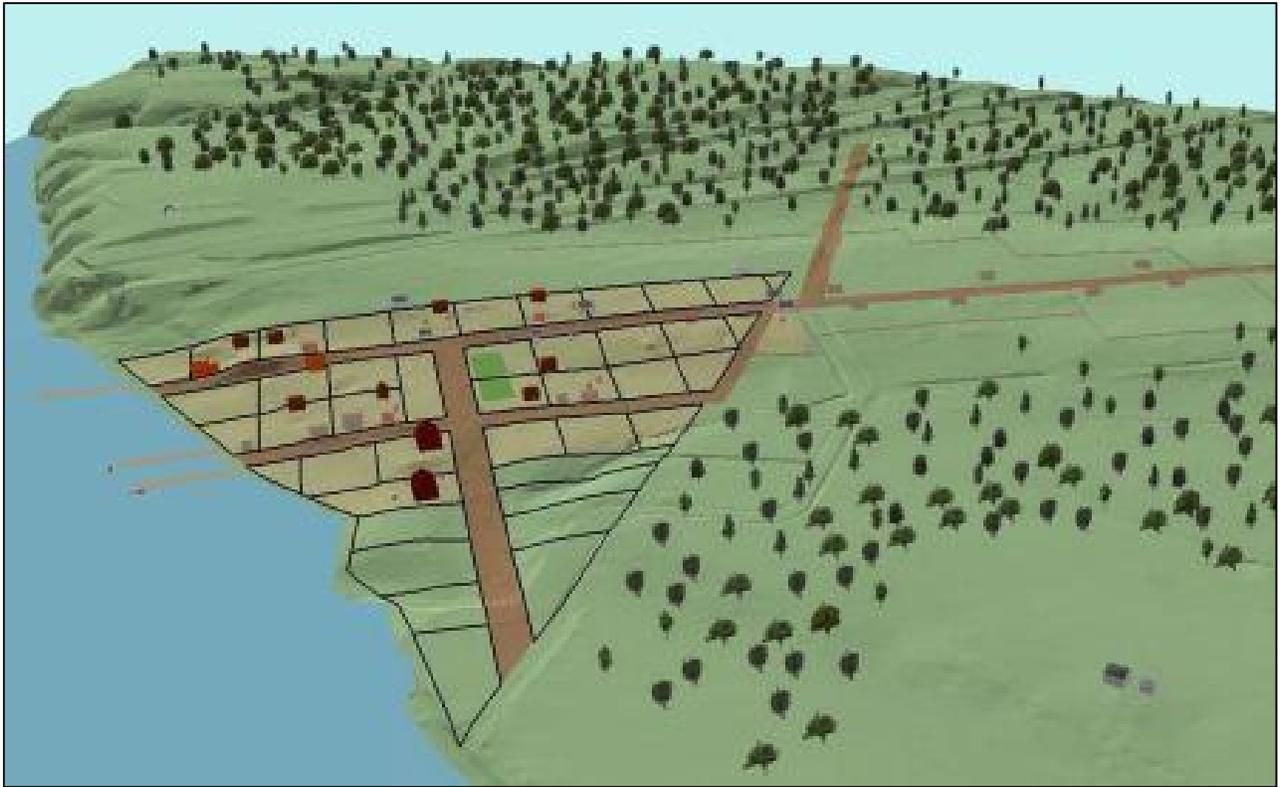

By the CART Team

After a little over a month of great weather and hard work, CART was able to complete the MTUs in the Flood Plain Survey. The survey consisted of testing the northern boundary of the large prehistoric site along the Occoquan River. Some of the artifacts uncovered ranged from historic nails to prehistoric lithics as well as small pieces of prehistoric pottery. The lithics consisted mainly of quartz but the team uncovered chert flakes as well. We would like to send out a thank you to the CART crew and the volunteers for all their hard work on this survey. In the picture, Jean and Jonathan are finishing up the last MTUs on the Flood Plain Survey.

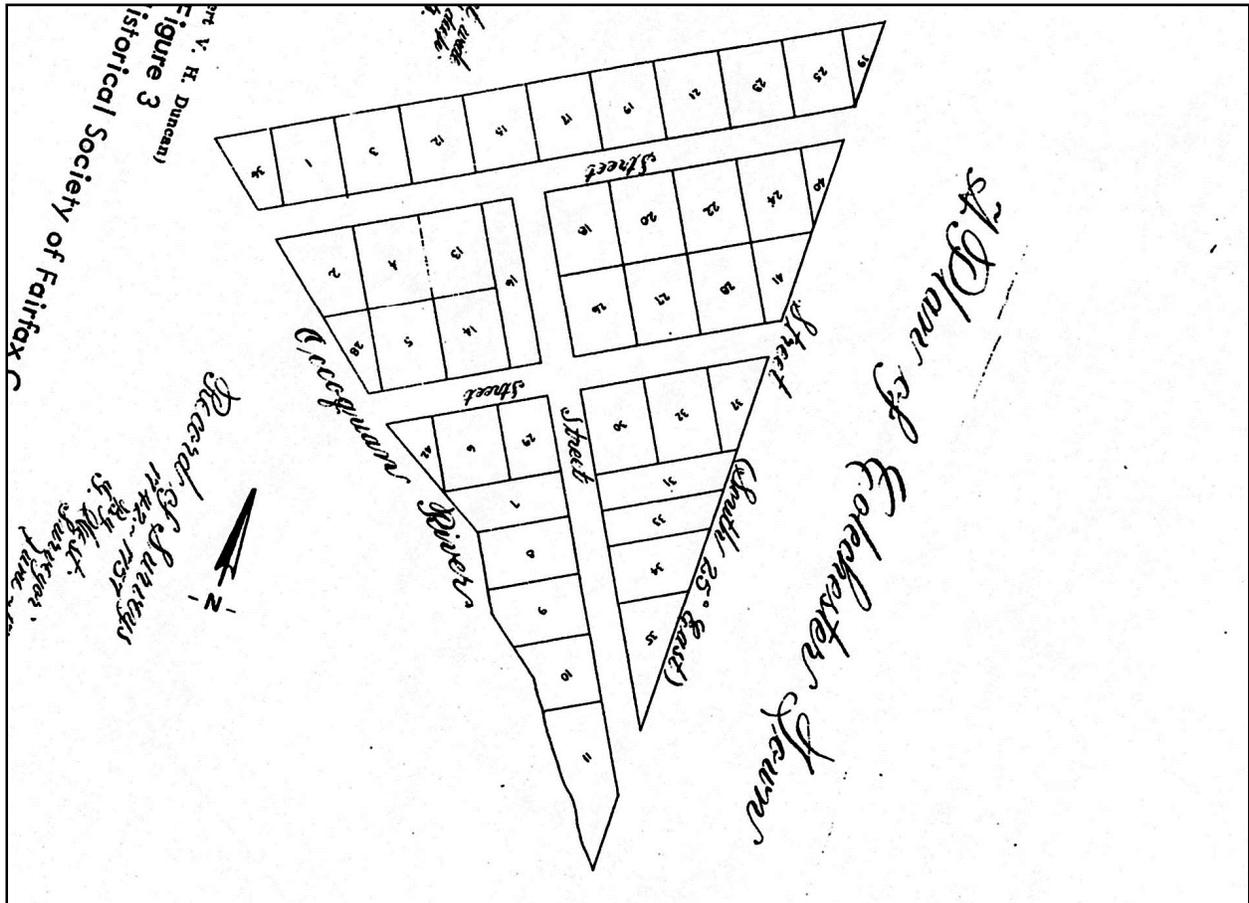

CART would like to welcome George Mason University student interns to the team. While we will also be taking a number of GMU volunteers who are committing to 40 hours this semester, our four interns are committing to 120 hours of work in order to better learn the skills they will need as they pursue opportunities within the field of archaeology. As you might recall, Colchester was first intensively investigated by George Mason University in the 1980s, well before most of our interns were born!

Marion, our GIS specialist, has been working hard on integrating archaeological data and historical data to create a ðVirtual Colchesterö. The town of Colchester and some of the buildings, from around circa 1760, are overlaid on a modern terrain model. Seen in the middle of the image is the Morris Pound vineyard, and in the lower right are representations of the structures of which we found evidence on the Cemetery Site.
